

U.S. Silica Announces Price Increases on Cristobalite Products

February 24, 2022

KATY, Texas, Feb. 24, 2022 /PRNewswire/ -- U.S. Silica Holdings, Inc. (NYSE: SLCA) said today that a portion of its Industrial and Specialty Products business will increase prices for most of its non-contracted whole grain and ground cristobalite products. These products are produced in its Millen, GA, Berkeley Springs, WV and Columbia, SC facilities and used primarily in building products, foundry, plastics, and paints and coatings.

Price increases will range up to 25 percent, depending on the product and grade. The price increases are effective for shipments starting April 1, 2022.

This increase is driven by ongoing inflationary pressures around raw materials, packaging, logistics and maintenance expenses.
